IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

ORGANIZATION OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND OTHER GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHMENTS AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL, AND INFORMATION CONCERNING THE PERSONS EMPLOYED THEREIN.

OCTOBER 9, 1893.—Laid on the table and ordered to be printed

Mr. COCKRELL, from the Joint Commission to Inquire into the Status of the Laws Organizing the Executive Departments, etc., submitted the following REPORT:

The Joint Commission appointed under the following provision of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation act approved March 3, 1893 (Vol. xxvii, p. 681, Statutes at Large)—

That a joint commission, consisting of three Senators, members of the Fifty-third Congress to be appointed by the present President of the Senate, and three members-elect to the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third Congress, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-second Congress, shall, during the Fifty-third Congress, inquire into and examine the status of the laws organizing the Executive Departments, bureaus, divisions, and other Government establishments at the national capital; the rules, regulations, and methods for the conduct of the same; the time and attention devoted to the operations thereof by the persons employed therein, and the degree of efficiency of all such employes; whether any modification of these laws can be made to secure greater efficiency and economy; and whether a reduction in the number or compensation of the persons authorized to be employed in said Executive Departments or bureaus can be made without injury to the public service: Provided, That the commission herein authorized shall have no jurisdiction to inquire into and report on pension legislation. Said commission is authorized to employ not exceeding three experts, who shall render such assistance as the commission may require in the prosecution of the investigation herein required, and shall receive such compensation as the commission shall determine to be just and reasonable. The heads of the respective Executive Departments shall detail from time to time such officers and employes as may be requested by said commission in their investigations. Said commission or any subcommittee thereof shall have power to send for persons and papers, and to administer oaths, and such process shall be issued and such oaths administered by the chairman of the commission or subcommittee, and the commission may report, by bill or otherwise, to their respective houses of the Fifty-third Congress. All necessary expenses of said commission shall be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated upon vouchers approved jointly by the chairman of said commission—submit herewith for the information of Congress statements from the several Executive Departments and other Government establishments at the National Capital, prepared by the heads thereof, pursuant to inquiries addressed to them by the Commission through letters under date of May 24, 1893.

The information as to each Department or establishment is furnished as of date of May 24, 1893, except as to the Post-Office Department and Fish Commission, which is furnished as of date July 1, 1893.

The statement as to each Executive Department and Government establishment shows the number and title of offices and bureaus and divisions thereof; the number of persons authorized to be employed therein; their sex; their ages; the number of years each has been employed therein; the number who entered the public service under process of the civil-service law of 1883; the number of persons employed as clerks or otherwise and paid more than $840 per annum who are doing duty appertaining to the positions of messengers, assistant messengers, or laborers; the number of messengers, assistant messengers, watchmen, or laborers who are doing clerical duties appertaining to higher salaried offices; and the number of persons employed who have wives, husbands, brothers, sisters, sons, daughters, or other relatives employed therein or in other Government establishments in Washington.

The information given applies to the eight Executive Departments, stated in the chronological order of their establishment under the Constitution, and to the twelve other Government establishments at the national capital, namely :

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS.

Department of State.
 Department of War.
 Department of the Treasury.
 Post-Office Department.
 Department of Justice.
 Department of the Navy.
 Department of the Interior.
 Department of Agriculture.

OTHER GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHMENTS.

Department of Labor.
 Civil Service Commission.
 Fish Commission.
 Interstate Commerce Commission.
 Government Printing Office.
 Library of Congress.
 Government of the District of Columbia.
 Under the Smithsonian Institution:
     National Museum.
     Bureau of International Exchanges.
     National Zoölogical Park.
     Astrophysical Observatory.
     Bureau of Ethnology.

A general summary of all of the reports from the foregoing Departments and Government establishments is made and will be found following page 207. It shows:

That they are divided into 136 offices or bureaus and 498 divisions.

That there are 17,599 persons employed therein, 11,667 males and 5,637 females, being approximately 6,128 more than are specifically appropriated for, as shown in the report of the Joint Commission made to the Senate and House, September 30, 1893 (Senate Report 41; House Report 49), and who are authorized by and paid from general appropriations.

That of the number employed in the eight Executive Departments, the Department of Labor, Civil Service Commission, and Fish Commission, which are under the civil-service law, 8,027 are in the class subject to competitive civil-service examination preliminary to appointment, and that 3,265 of that number entered the service after such examination. The residue, 4,762, were employed in the Departments at the time they were classified and placed under the civil-service law by Executive order.

That 12 persons are employed doing duty as messengers, assistant messengers, or laborers and paid more than $840 per annum, the maximum compensation for such service.

That 84 messengers, assistant messengers, watchmen or laborers are employed doing clerical duties appertaining to higher salaried offices.

That the ages of those employed stated in multiples of 5 years range from 20 years to 90 years.

That the length of service of all employes ranges from 1 year to 60 years each.

And that of the whole number employed 5,610 have from 1 to 9 relatives each in the Government service at Washington.

On pages 76 to 80, inclusive, will be found information furnished by the Secretary of the Treasury, at the request of the Commission, showing that there are 50 disbursing offices of the Government in Washington, and that 19 of them are conducted by persons connected with certain charitable institutions in the District of Columbia, who serve without compensation. The remaining 31, after omitting therefrom the officials who have other duties to perform or who receive no compensation as disbursing officers, employ 107 persons at an aggregate annual cost of $161,003.95.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
Washington, D. C., September 6, 1893.

SIR: In compliance with the request contained in your letter of May 24 last, I have the honor to transmit herewith a statement showing—

First. The number of bureaus and divisions of this Department.

Second. The number of persons authorized to be employed in each of said bureaus and divisions, together with the number of males and females.

Third. The ages of the persons employed in each bureau or division, and the number of years each has been employed.

Fourth. The number who entered the service under process of the civil-service law of 1883.

Fifth. The number of persons employed in the Department who have relatives employed in the Government service at Washington.

Sixth. The number with compensation exceeding the rate of $840 per annum who are doing duties naturally appertaining to the positions of and that should be performed by messengers, assistant messengers, etc., and the number of messengers, etc., who are doing clerical duties appertaining to higher salaried officers.

Also a list of disbursing officers employed in the Treasury Department, and the number employed in the entire Government service at Washington, and their aggregate annual cost.

Respectfully yours,

J. G. CARLISLE,
Secretary.

Hon. A. M. DOCKERY,

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,
Washington, D. C., July 1, 1893.

SIR: In forwarding the accompanying report the Commission takes this opportunity to lay before you in the most urgent manner the need for an increase of the force of the Commission. At present the Commission has twenty-two men detailed to it from the different Departments; but the Commission's experience is that on an average over a third of the men thus detailed are entirely incompetent to perform the duties to which they are assigned. Of the Commission's present detailed force but twelve or thirteen are really competent to do the work. Last February the Commission was about abreast of its work. Since then the task of completing the classification of the free-delivery offices has added so enormously to the labor of the Commission's force that we are now about five thousand papers behind. We have been entirely unable to mark any Departmental or Railway Mail papers from States where there was not an absolute need of eligibles for three months past, and we are not even able to keep up with the marking of the papers for the free-delivery offices. The Commission has now laid the case before the President and before the heads of the Departments. It has asked for eight additional men to be detailed to it and has also requested that it be given complete control of these detailed men. If the eight additional men are given and if the Commission's whole force is composed of men as efficient as are now the best of the men detailed and practically all of the men appointed by the Commission itself the Commission will speedily catch up with its work. Unless all these conditions are fulfilled the Commission can not possibly catch up with its work. Certain of the Departments are very behindhand in the number of men detailed to the Commission. Others are behindhand in the efficiency of the men they have sent. The Post-Office Department, for instance, furnishes but four of the twenty-two men detailed, and yet for the Post-Office Department we do more work at present than for all the other Departments combined. The Interior Department, on the other hand, furnishes us eight men, which is its full proportion; but of those now with us no less than five are of poor quality.

The only way by which a satisfactory force for the Commission can ever be provided is to appropriate for them on the Commission's own roster. When we have these additional eight men for whom we have asked detailed to us we shall have a force of thirty details. This, added to our own force will allow us to do our present work, although it will not be sufficient as our work increases. These thirty men should be put under the Commission at once. This can only be done by Congress, and it can be done without increasing by one dollar the Governmental appropriations. All that is necessary is to have the men appropriated for on our own roster instead of being appropriated for on the rosters of the different Departments that detail them to us. Absolutely no advantage results whatsoever from the present system. The men detailed to our force are kept busy all the time and do not do a stroke of work for the Departments from which they come, so that no benefit can come to the Department from keeping the men on their rolls. On the other hand, the temptation is of course great with every Department to detail to us their most inefficient people, people whom they do not care to have in the Departments, but whom for some reason or other they do not like to dismiss.

The Commission is frequently obliged to keep these men because of the fact that to return them would probably mean getting no better men in their places and it might mean getting no one at all. If, however, the force is transferred bodily to the Commission's own roster, so as to allow the Commission the same control of it that all other Departments have of their own employés, permitting the Commission to dismiss or reduce incompetent men and to fill the vacancies created from the eligible registers, the Commission will guarantee speedily to have its force at the highest possible point of efficiency. The experience of the Commission proves beyond shadow of question that the most efficient possible force can be procured from the eligible registers of the Commission. All it asks is that it shall have the opportunity to procure its force in this way and shall be given the control of the men who work under it and for whose work it is itself held responsible. There can be no objection to this on the score of economy, because the transfer of the men from the rosters of the other offices to the roster of the Commission will not increase in any way the total expenditure for Governmental purposes. It can not be objected to by any of the Departments, for the Departments do not now gain any benefit whatsoever from these men detailed to us, and it will result in an immense improvement in the efficiency of the Commission's force. The hardship resulting from the present shortage of force falls not upon the Commission, but upon applicants for examination, on the applicants from Missouri, Indiana, and Ohio, for instance, who have been examined within the last three months, whose papers are not yet marked and can not be marked with the Commission's present force. These people can obtain office only through the Commission and they are debarred from all chance of doing so until the Commission is given a working force.

Again the Commission respectfully urges that it should have an increase in traveling expenses. It is absolutely necessary to keep certain of its employés traveling from post-office to post-office, where charges of irregularity or wrongdoing are made. Only in this way is it possible for the Commission to oversee the work of its local boards and supervise the execution of the civil-service law in the offices away from Washington. To do this with the present force means the necessity of abandoning half of the schedule routes of examinations. We have had to cancel the examinations scheduled to be held in the majority of places in the last three months, and we shall have to pursue precisely the same course next year if a sufficient appropriation for traveling expenses be not granted the Commission.

Very respectfully,

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS,
Washington, June 5, 1893.

SIR: Replying to your favor of 24th May, I enclose, as requested, list of persons employed in the Library of Congress, with their ages, length of service, and statement of relatives (if any) employed in the Government service.

Regarding the divisions existing in the library, permit me to say that the exigencies of the copyright business, with its heavy increase of late (doubled in six years, without increase of clerical force, except two assistants), have required more and more absorption of the time of those employed in other departments of the library service. There should be, approximately, in the catalogue department, 4 assistants; book service and records, 5; law department, 3; printing and binding service, 1; international exchanges, 1; records and accounts, 1; copyright records and publications, 10; and laborers (distribution and delivery of books, cleaning, etc.), 2; total, 27.

All the 27 persons employed in the library are men. Any additional information or details as to the business of the library will be promptly furnished by the Librarian and his assistants on call of your committee.

Very respectfully,

A. R. SPOFFORD,
Librarian of Congress.

Hon. ALEX. M. DOCKERY,
Chairman of the Joint Commission.

Statement showing the number and title of offices and bureaus and divisions thereof in the Library of Congress; the number of persons authorized to be employed therein; their sex, their ages, the number of years each has been employed in the department; the number who entered the public service under process of the civil-service law of 1883; the number of persons employed as clerks, or otherwise, and paid more than $840 per annum who are doing duty appertaining to the positions of messengers, assistant messengers, or laborers; the number of messengers, assistant messengers, watchmen, or laborers, who are doing clerical duties appertaining to higher-salaried offices; and the number of persons employed in the Library of Congress who have wives, husbands, brothers, sisters, sons, daughters, or other relatives employed therein or in other Government establishments in Washington, May 24, 1893.

GOVERNMENT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
Washington, August 9, 1893.

SIR: The Commissioners of the District of Columbia transmit the accompanying tabular statements prepared in response to your request of May 24 and June 19, 1893, for certain information relative to the organization and personnel of the municipal government of said District.

Very respectfully,
